A special Place to live.

I'm living in what I consider to be one of the best places on the planet, even after coming back from a year away it was good to come home.

What is it about Dartmoor that makes you feel that way?

I can go out for a walk and I can do the same walk seven times in one week and there'll be something different I see about it, every time, whether it's the weather, whether its – its just constant change and its great, different seasons, different weather always, you can even get that in one day.
