

Harry Warne

Princetown Fair.

Princetown Fair was quite an event every September, they used to have a field from the Duchy and it was all penned off and they used to have mostly pony sales, there would be sheep and cattle, but mainly ponies, and that was once a year, I think the first Wednesday in September. And of course all the local farmers would get there and the gypsies would be there and all the dealers, you know, it used to be quite a day and then there'd be fights and Lord knows what, and the one village bobby there sorting them out! Quite a day Princetown Fair.