

Bill Allen

The timeless nature of the house.

What's the really special thing about living here at Uppacott?

I think it is the timelessness of it, it actually puts one in perspective and puts life into context a little bit as to, you know, we're here for a short time and we're actually custodians of this, but we don't own any of it; it's actually a seamless link between somewhere like Uppacott and the Moor, it actually was built from the rock and its actually built into the Moor, and I don't mean that to sound too romantic but it is actually how it is here, it's a very sort of? belt and braces sort of place.