Mr and Mrs Warren and their six children.

How many people lived here?

Well my grandparents, and they had six children, three were born before Granddad went to war, First World War, then he came home and three more girls were born afterwards. Granddad used to sit in a chair over there and I think we used to have a settle here but then this door wasn't here then. The table used to be in front of the window and Granddad used to have one of those big wooden chairs that [he] used to sit in, always smoking his pipe.
